Nope, he really is ten years old. And I didn't help - he wouldn't let me. It did take him most of the morning mind you, with a lot of trial and plenty of error before he arrived at the result you see here.

Phil;

I give him five years maximum, and then I give YOU five turns, until he's nailed your character to the dungeon floor and fed what's left to the (insert monster's name here) he has lurking in the side tunnel! Seriously, no knocks here; that kid of yours is GOOD at dungeon design! Now if he can match his layout design with drafting skills so he can map what pieces he uses, from what sets, then sir, set him up in business, he has a furture career - or at least enough of one to help finance his college tuition!
You may think I'm kidding, but I think you should at least research how many people here and in other forums would pay a reasonable fee for someone who can design and detail-map/list the parts for a custom DF dungeon that looks as playable as that one. Of course, the first thing you must do is ask Master Timothy if he WANTS to do this on a paid basis; if he does, then Daddy, it's time to get busy.
If he starts writing scenarios as well, and does them as well, Tronen is in trouble! OUCH!!

See ya!

Jim

PS: Does Tim like Harry Potter? I'd LOVE to see a good HP/D&D/DF crawl! In fact, I do believe I'd PAY for that! :D
