Here are a few photos of a Mine entrance piece I was working on. all the mine set ups the last few months got me inspired..what do you think ? I was going for an OLD SCHOOL hillside mine entrance. it was from an old bell piece i had laying around.. love the Dremel tool.

The structure was from an old halloween town bell piece, and the planks are good old popcicle sticks, glad you like it

Not long at all, about 30-45 min. with glue and paint dry time. I am thinking about putting a few old mining tools on the front of it, mybe a latern.

I would love to see Dwarven forge produce some nice large entrance tiles. I missed out on the realm of the ancients entrance tiles and I would love to see some more large entrances in the future to the various sets.

The following would be great...

Mine entrance (a dwarven mine set would be neat in the future too)
Cavern entrance river or chasm entrance ect....

Indeed - excellent, simple idea that really adds so much to a set-up...bravo sir!

How about an Entrance Set to go with our desired Door Set Stefan?

Thanks Dave. you be amazed what a few popcicle sticks and a dremel tool can do, in just a few minutes.

what do you all think about mybe putting a few old mining tools and mybe a latern near the top. or would that take away from the old sealed up look?

Thank you Harneloot.
I agree as I am sure all do. AN ENTRANCE SET WOULD BE SICK. just the thought has me reaching for my dremel.
