Athens, Georgia Game Photos!

Here's three pics of the assault on an underground Drow outpost that we played. The outpost consisted of two small stone buildings set in a small cavern that connected to a man-made dungeon.

In the first pic, we're getting ready to assault the outpost.

In the second, Jiao the monk gets a nasty surprise in the form of a Giant Spider kept in a pen on the far side of the outpost. Simultaneously, Miles the fighter is caught unaware by illusionary fire.

In the third pic, the drow counterassault is underway. Jiao fights bravely as Drega the Frostmaid takes the high ground. Mile is unconscious from the fire illusion and several other attack spells, and strugges to recover. The piece marked "AW" is the underside of a cavern piece and represents the area of effect of a sphere of darkness.

That "nice" DM attacked us with 11 Drow versus our three players. I personally think he's a bastard. I'll buy him a beer, but I'll piss in it first! :lol:

As for the sphere of darkness, suck it up, DM-boy. ;)

Yeah, it was close though. We had to burn up a lot of "one shot" magic items and run around a bit, but we made it. Damn Drow with paralysis poison...

Such hostility towards a harmless ol' DM. My My My!

They all lived in the game but still have bad attitudes toward their beloved Treasure giving DM.

I have no idea why???? ;) They probably were hoping to find Lloths magic death bazooka or some thing.....

MrMorden, On behalf of the enitre community, I want to thank you for keeping that hideous looking Thor out of the photos.

What sets do you have there? Just asking Thor just got me into this stuff, and I love it. I have the passage & room set and just got another room set

I probably used most of two cavern sets. Probably only two room sets for the towers. I see some Cav-pass on the edges. Those single wide doors and walls came in Adavanced builder.

But I bet you could do somthing very similar with many less sets by placeing the keep/fort/building as a part of the cave wall itself. (Instead of freestanding in the middle of the big cave.) Then you would only have to put cave pieces around the "front", :)

By the way that is my pretty knee and wet gameing sock in the first picture - upper left. (I think Mrmorden asked me to move!!!! :rolleyes: IIRC)

Do you guys use wet gaming socks??? or is that just us. :P It's a combo wiper - bar towel . Ours has not been washed since the bi-centenial.
