Can someone please help me out with the online kit?

Hi everyone I've emailed the right people and asked around but no one seems to be able to provide me with the link to the beta online tile construction kit.

Can someone please PM me the link?

Hi I'd like to thank Thomas for hooking me up. I'll try and find a way to break the program and get back to you! :)

Go beta testing...

I Got the Link Too... I Like the Generall Look, but I Wish that the Pieces would "Snap" to Grid, I Know it Would Involve Creating like 8 of Every Tile But, Man I Hate the Extra Time it Takes to Line Every thing Properly...

I think I broke the program in a few places already. The forward/back option really messes things up when you right click it :)

Did You Folks Try E-Mailing the Dude who is Programming the Next Version? He Has Asked us NOT to Forward the Link Our selves but to Refer People to Him... It is a Link to a Closed Section of the DF Site I Think...

I Have No Idea when this will be Done, but assuming that the Main Sets are in their "Completed" State, it Looks like a little over half of the Sets have been Finished... Traps, WE, Treasure stuff like that is not Available yet although there are Buttons for them on the Menu... I Have Not tried Printing any of the Maps yet so I DO not know how they Look, especially Larger Set ups... The Pieces Look Great individually but are Hard to Line up Quickly, so there is a lot of Overlaping in my Hasty attempts, which would be Cool for Just Seeing How the Pieces fit together, but would make Mapping tedious at this Point... Hopefully it will address this issue eventually though because the Tiles look Very Kewl...

So far printing is poor and often distorted. Also you have to print the entire page waisting a lot of color ink. This will hopefully improve as it goes along.

edit: It already has! Much better print quality and the headers are removed. Great Job!!!
