Dwarven Forge - Dwarven Forge

Generated: 7 December, 2013, 17:39

1/5

Dwarven Forge - Dwarven Forge Generated: 7 December, 2013, 17:39

Can anyone tell me what the following sets are?
 MM005
Thanks! RF The set that got away! I always wanted one, but never had the money to pick it up when it was in production. I believe it went OOP ~1999/2000. Plus, it was around long before Advanced Builder set came out which contained a six inch passage piece FINALLY so you did not have to have so many short passageways.
005 was the original Short Passageways Set with twice the number of short passageways the current set has without the annoying cave-in piece.  It was the first Dwarven Forge set to retail for over $100 - SRP=$120.
Some of us really have been around in gaming since before the Mesozoic.  Moreover, some of us have been with Dwarven Forge and its product Master Maze since its Stone Age
Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by camoudragon - 2006/04/12 06:39
as it is your 10th birthday wouldn't it be nice to have a history of your products on your webpage? something like first release date, picture of box, picture of content, original price and maybe 1-2 small sample set ups?
Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by jkratzer - 2006/04/12 08:02
as it is your 10th birthday wouldn't it be nice to have a history of your products on your webpage? something like first release date, picture of box, picture of content, original price and maybe 1-2 small sample set ups? I'd second that, but does David(?) the WebMaster (Jeff's brother, son, uncle, whatever) have time to do it? Hmmm
See ya!
Jim
Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by BabidFox* - 2006/04/12 18:49

Dwarven Forge - Dwarven Forge

Generated: 7 December, 2013, 17:39

as it is your 10th birthday wouldn't it be nice to have a history of your products on your webpage? something like first release date, picture of box, picture of content, original price and maybe 1-2 small sample set ups....? I'd second that, but does David(?) the WebMaster (Jeff's brother, son, uncle, whatever) have time to do it? Hmmm. . . See ya! Jim Jim. I believe his name is "Doug". I will go farther than your allusion to the folks and say, "Fat Chance!" _____ Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by jkratzer - 2006/04/13 07:00 RF* -You're absolutely right; his name is Doug; I just had a brain-gas-passing-incident that blocked the correct name. Yeah, unfortunately, "Fat Chance!" is probably an optimistic view the the likelihood of Doug or Jeff having the time/chance of doingthe retrospective. But it is a nice idea. Hell, if I had the data, I'd do it.

See ya!

Jim

-----

Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by Blackhawk1 - 2006/04/13 16:56

These old sets also bring back an "I cant believe I lucked out" on some DF stuff about 2 years ago. One of the COns has a flea market on the last day and some guy was there with old DF stuff he just wanted to get rid of.

I walked off with 2 MM 002 (no big deal) but also 2 MM 014 (narrow passages) and an MM 007 (Ogre room) for $200. Everything was 100% complete and undamged. I told him he could probably get double ebaying the stuff since the last 3 are long OOP but he didnt want to be bothered. SO I handed him cash, counted myself fortunate, and loaded them into the van.

______

Old	Dwarven	Forge	Sets

Posted by RabidFox* - 2006/04/13 19:22

You definitely lucked out on the 014s.

The current demand around here for 014 is high enough that it looks like a new shipment would be sold out before it arrived.

Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by jkratzer - 2006/04/14 06:51

You definitely lucked out on the 014s.

The current demand around here for 014 is high enough that it looks like a new shipment would be sold out before it arrived.

From your lips to Jeff's ears - or was that your intent anyway?

See ya!

Jim

Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by whitewind - 2006/04/15 09:29

Wow, That was some great info Rabid.... When you were describing it I seem to remember seeing that set somewhere here in Houston. It was in a Room and Passage Set box right? Two layers of short passages. I still could not get into DF back then. Hey, I love that cave in piece...! I was fortunate enough to pick up two Narrow Passage sets and when they went on 50% sale got a little more than another set in individual pieces. They are great and now a days real rare.

Old Dwarven Forge Sets Posted by RabidFox* - 2006/04/15 13:11

Wow, That was some great info Rabid.... When you were describing it I seem to remember seeing that set somewhere here in Houston. It was in a Room and Passage Set box right? Two layers of short passages. I still could not get into DF back then.

Yes.:)

Hey, I love that cave in piece...!

It does have some utility, but come on, having it in every short passage set?

It should have been just left in WA2 and not inserted into every short passage set! :mad:

Dwarven Forge - Dwarven Forge

Generated: 7 December, 2013, 17:39

I was fortunate enough to pick up two Narrow Passage sets and when they went on 50% sale got a little more than another set in individual pieces. They are great and now a days real rare. Lucky you!:)

By time I started moving towards the Narrow Set, all I could find & buy was loose pieces. What I really want is the release of a Sci-Fi Narrow set, but I have read enough desire that I will encourage the re-release of the fantasy narrow set too.

-----