That's going to be one long and exciting day! You have a marvelous setup, with lots of neat terrain for play. I like the mud room for the earth elemental, the lava room for the fire giant and fire elemental, and the water elemental in the lake. Am I missing something, or shouldn't there be an air elemental in there as well, to complete the set?

You're going to have a great game! Enjoy!

:D

Tom, great set up! And great accessories! That cape, the bow, the sword, the staff...they are excellent and fit right in with the beautiful DF items like the quiver, axe, shield, armor, scrolls, etc.

Stefan, I was so thrilled to read your possible interest in making another magic item set. I was just precisely thinking after seeing Tom's accesories next to the DF ones: I soooo wish DF would make another magic item/treasure set with items such as those Tom displays here, and maybe a tiny and medium little pile of "gems". That would about cover the remaining types of treasure and magic items characters find in most fantasy games.

Hmmm ... allow me to answer for Tom in his absence ....

The cloak is from the last (prior to the current) Games Workshop Chaos Warriors Regiment (the one that had the metal command, standard and musician bits).

The bulk of the weapon items are from Reaper's Warlord line ... simply "Warlord Weapons Pack", I believe.

I might actually have a few of those cloaks left-over if anyone is interested ... oh, I can see the flood of e-mails now ;)
