At one of the last evenings
Posted by mcwulf - 2006/12/31 16:29

I hope for a comment of Malimes, the not quite so dark one
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (14).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (10).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (01).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (12).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (13).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (5).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (11).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (9).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (2).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (8).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (4).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (6).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (3).JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21403/showimage (7).JPG

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by philip - 2006/12/31 17:26

I really like your setup alot! I recongize some of that but can you tell us the individual scenery manufacturers? What is the blue rock looking material? What about the non DF in the center room?

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Tobus Neth - 2006/12/31 18:51

Very cool set-up! How about a pic of the map on the wall(Homebrewed campaign!)

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Harneloot - 2007/01/01 11:18

WOW - love the mushroom tent village - where are those peices from?

Also - the whole set-up appears to be elvevate off the table, yes? How did you accomplish this?

How many DF sets was that set up? Approximatley what were the dimensions (3ft x 5ft ?)

Really excellent looking and very inspiring!

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Thod - 2007/01/01 14:00

_____

McWulf

I love the layout and yes indeed - the village and the mushrooms look great together with all the DF. I also love the temple in the center.

Haarnloot

I had a quick count earlier as I was interested myself. It is 8*12 squares = 80 cm * 120 cm. Of the 96 squares 16 are non DF in the center and 17 cavern tiles. This leaves 63 water tiles and without checking it individually I would guess 3 lake, 3 river plus the three free open water tiles (= exactly 63 tiles).

Thod

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Aracon - 2007/01/01 17:31

_____

Nice setups. I like the idea of having the food under the DF!

Great work on the mushrooms and the Hirst Arts (I believe) centerpiece.

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Wereweasel - 2007/01/01 17:47

_____

mcwulf,

Every part of it looks great, especially the centre section!

I am also intrigued by the blue crystal area, is it made of crushed glass or something more user-friendly?

Either way, thanks for the remarkable post.

Steve

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by jkratzer - 2007/01/01 18:48

---

mcwulf;

I HAVE to add my congrats on the use of HA with DF; it is so well done that it looks as if DF did it! Correct me if I'm wrong, but are the thatch-roof round huts MBA, or Ainsty? I KNOW I've seen them SOMEWHERE in an on-line catalogue SOMEwhere, but I can't remember where!

That also looked like some first-quality Banana Nut Bread that guy was inhaling off the plate; I hope he enjoyed it, because I enjoyed the progression of disappareance!

I would also be interested in seeing the map from the wall; I've always been fascinated by maps, even moreso than gaming, to be honest! After all, maps can guide you to cool MUNDANE places, places you can take Unbelievers to see. And THAT'S way cool!

Looks like you've got a winning game room, mcwulf; have fun!

Happy New Year!

Jim

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Harneloot - 2007/01/01 19:26

Thod - thanks for the count!

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by hivemaster - 2007/01/02 09:45

---

mcwulf not only has a winning game rom, but also a winning gaming party... ;-)

I´m the one on the left edge of the table eating all the time...
Dungeon setup is not the only quality of mcwulf... god bless his cake !

The map on the wall is one of a little part of middle-earth, where our campaign takes part.
It´s really great to play with a gamemaster with such immense resources of mastermaze and over a thousand painted minis from all kind of manufacturers (reaper/ fenryll/ gw/ armourcast/ ....).

And yes, the centre piece is self-made of hirst-art stones...
(You haven`t seen the egyptian pieces yet, they`re even better !)

Happy New Near to all of you guys,

Peter

(alias Malimes)

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by jkratzer - 2007/01/03 05:11

_____

Peter;

Was it Banana Nut Bread cake, as I thought it was?

Sounds like you guys have a great time when gaming. When Sandy takes down the Christmas HO Railroad, I have to get a test setup back together for the big game ReBob and I will be running at Shore Leave this July. Hopefully, I'll get pics for here, this time!

See ya!

Jim

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by hivemaster - 2007/01/04 07:46

_____

Jim;

as good as I can remember - the photos of the dungeon are some months old - it was a nut cake, but not with bananas...

;-)

I´d like to see pics of your test setups.

CU

Peter

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by jkratzer - 2007/01/04 08:56

_____

Peter,

Hopefully, I WILL remember to take pics while ReBob and I are setting it up for the practice.
When we take a setup 'on the road' to a convention, we rehearse it here first so we know exactly what sets to take with us; it makes it a LOT easier to drag just what we need instead of 40-plus DF boxes plus individual pieces twenty-five miles each way to the convention hotel!
Especially since I ALSO have to drag two camcorders w/tripods, an audio mix board, three wireless mikes, and two mike stands along, so I can tape Sunday Morning Temple of Trek services! NO, you do NOT want to ask about Temple (but I know you're going to - or SOMEONE here will, eventually).

Anyway, I will try to remember.

See ya!

Jim

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by Harneloot - 2007/01/04 10:58

_____

Jim -

I might actaully make it down to Shore-Leave to run through your dungeon - will photos you post "spoil" anything for me? If so, can you alert me in the subject line so I can avoid that thread?

Also - is yours the only D&D adventure happening at shore leave? How many days/sessions will it run for?

Thanks!
-Guild

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by jkratzer - 2007/01/05 07:28

_____

Harneloot -

Yes, the pics MIGHT spoil the surprises; therefore, I WILL post spoiler alerts in the subject.

Ours will be the only MAJOR D&D session; it will start @ 10 AM Saturday, and IF NECESSARY, will run until 6 PM Sunday night, when we must vacate. IF it runs that long, there WILL be breaks for meals, etc., and a BIG one on Sunday AM from 10-11, while I videotape Temple and Sandy sings in the Choir (DON'T ask; you WILL regret it!)

See ya then!

Jim

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by mcwulf - 2007/01/07 09:00

_____

the first pic's was the third dungeon of a big complex - this is the first dungeon. it starts at the right edge and goes to the left side. comments comes from peter because my dungeons are good but his english is better!

>jkratzer> thanks for your interesst about the cake - i think it was an eggflip-cake (did anyone knows the right word vor "Eierlikör"?)

nice weekend together

manuel
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21474/P1010003.2.JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21474/P1010022.2.JPG
http://dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/21474/P1010002.2.JPG

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by jkratzer - 2007/01/07 14:09

_____

manuel -

What can I say? I'm a big eater (5'7.5", 226 this morning? Yeah, I'm a BIG eater!).
And eating while gaming is one of the inalienable rights of gamers!

Again, great dungeon complex - and YES, when ReBob and I get the lexan stack back together for the Shore Leave setup, I WILL take/post pics here!

See ya!

Jim

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by whitewind - 2007/01/08 09:39

_____

Awesome set up. Yeah the blending of DF and the HA temple area is primo! love the glass bead mote around it.

==========

At one of the last evenings
Posted by Rotfuchs - 2007/02/03 07:19

_____

COOL DUNGEON

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by Baburu - 2007/02/08 16:34

_____

That first set up completly rocks!

==========

At one of the last evenings

Posted by KANSASUFO - 2007/02/09 01:30

_____

beautifull, congrats!

==========