Owlcon - A Gaming Convention in Houston Texas

I run a Master Maze DnD game at Owlcon every year, with my buddy Jason Modisette. This year we're going heavy with Den of Evil and Cavernous Rivers and Lakes. I'll share pictures of the layouts after the con, so as not to spoil things.

There's still a week left in pre-registration and a couple of slots left in our game. Plus we've got something like 120 other events in RPGs, board and card, miniatures, RPGA, etc., and special guests Steve Long of Hero Games and Steve Jackson of Steve Jackson Games.

I'd point you here for pictures from last year, but they seem to be missing.

Hey, I hope to be there this year. I tried to get a friend of mine to help me with putting a big A&AM game with my 3d terrain boards I made but we could not figure out a way to get 6 folks to play at once and figure out who won. Hope to go and set up a game anyway. I have 2 DOE, 4 Lakes and 3 CR if you need them I can maybe anti up. Anything to get a dwarven forge club started out here in Houston. Ray.

Sure thing. Don't know what day " or if we will " but am trying to get a buddy and I to play a game of Axis and Allies Miniatures on my 3d boards that I have made. If you see some largish terrain ww2 and a real big guy and a little one. LOL. That will be us. Hope to see a fellow DF fan somewhere in this neck of the woods. The only other person from around here I knew his first name " Brad " but have not seen him for maybe 6 years. He had quite a few sets and was one of the people who inspired me to get some sets of my own.
