Sneakin and extra set in....

When I make this order I might try sneaking in a set that I already own along with the new stuff (MBS-SE & DOE-RS). I was thinking an extra DOE-RP set or DOE-WE set...

What one set of non-new stuff would people most like to add to their collections if they could "sneak it in" for free?

I don't collect DOE myself, but if you're even thinking of getting another DOE R&P set then I would suggest acquiring that set -sooner rather than later, while they are still available.

WHAT!?

The counter still says 50!

Yup - still got at least 50 sets left....

Probably Cavernous Lake. I dream of acquiring about 8 of those, plus about 40 extra open water tiles, and I don't even have my first one yet.

I'd like to "sneak in" another Cavern Set (or 2 or 3). I only have one ... but do have 2 of the Cavernous

Rivers sets ...

Another Cavernous Passage Set or two would be nice, too.

And maybe an Advanced Builder set, too.

Hmm ... I think I just blew my "sneak check" due to being over encumbered !!!!

Where is Enfield CT Myrthe?

Any chance we can pull together a NE DF mini-con this summer?

GS?

Hi Harneloot -

Enfield is in North Central CT ... right up I-91 ... and about 5 minutes from the MA border and Springfield.

Don't know about a mini con, but would love to get some gaming in. Juggling too many "real life" priorities that the "fantasy life" fun has been neglected for far too long.

Where are you?

Both Enfield is easy for me (25-30 min depending on traffic) and Manchester/Hartford (30-45) depending on where. My F"L"GS is the Time Machine in Manchester (hitting it tommorrow night after work to get some stuff). I hit a Comic Shop up in Enfield at times, and prefer their Michales and Home Depot for buying stuff over the Buckland area one, they just need a good Toy Store and I would Hit Enfiled more often. I am also about 30 Min from Worscter, and 45 is from Springfiled (well depending on where in Springfield...)

I wonder if Myrthe still has those boxes from Alpha ;). I have met him once back at the Buckland GW shop if he is who i think he is. But yeah a Mini Con or just a MASSIVE layout could be fun :D

DOH !!!!! I've been meaning to get back to you about those, GS. Yes, I do have them for you, sitting on a shelf in my "oh-so-sadly-neglected hobby area" and we just need to synchronize our watches. Again ;) Life has been interesting since the arrival of our second daughter at the end of October. Been sort of focussed on those "miniatures" of late (one 3 years and one 3 months) :D

You know, I could always leave them - the boxes, not my daughters ;) - for you at our FLGS. I can ask Ken to keep them in the "hold" closet near the registers (you know, where he'll set aside pre-ordered product for customers). Whatever's easier for you. Are you heading to Enfield soon ?

And yes, we've met before ... I am who you think I am ... but not all you think you know ;)

Yeah i was planning on going to Enfield this weekend, i wanted to hit the Home Depot, Shaws, Michales, and B&N at some point most likely on Sat. (i REALLY need to hit the supermarket so i can get some decent food to eat).

If you want to try dropping them off with Ken, i won't stop you. I'll be going there tonight after work to get some of the Lab minis and bases to put them on ;) (as a side note i am so annoyed at both myself and WKG for making me fall to the marketing ploy of buying a brick of them to get a predator... though i have to admit i actually like about 85% of the minis from the set, don't care about the game, but i like a lot of the Zombies, and some of the other things in it, so i am actually buying a few. Wouldn't get a brick if it weren't for the Predator, i'd just hit E-bay so that has me annoyed that you can only get it that way :(and that is the only way to get the Set of Predator minis if you don't want to wait till March.)
