Stefan, do you think you could find the time to share with us some character sheets like those we saw in The Dungeons & Dragons Experience? While I can't speak for anyone else here, I myself am a 1e/Original D&D fanatic and would love to have some character sheets like that.

Even if they aren't all nice and neat and blank ready-for-use we could at least make our own using yours as a blueprint, eh?

So what do you think sir?

Hey man,

Sorry for the delay, I'll get something up or posted in a few weeks, after I get back from Burning Man! WooHoo!

AH yes... Burning Man.... back before commercialization and the cops hanging out there...

Remember the motto... P Clear!

Stefan, and All,

I got to go to burning man a number of years ago with one of the organizers. Man was it cool. What happens in the dessert stays in the dessert.

You went into a dessert? Was it a chocolate cake, or a coconut cream pie?

Sorry, couldn't resist.

Thanks for the spell check :-) The funny thing was when I was typing that I was eating one of my wife's famous Blackberry pies, nice and warm with ice cream melting all over it. Mmmmmm Goooodddd.

Shadox -

Did your wife's Blackberry give you an electric shock whilst eating it? What does e-mail taste like?
Do MP3's sparkle in your mouth?

:lol:

Jim,

No but my boss sent me a text message and I got a stomach ache from it. :-)

Heh, hope the "early burn" by that colossal jackass didn't spoil the fun!

Hope to see the sheets soon!

I have to go record here and say that I to would love to see those character sheets, what was seen in the D&D Experience was just a teasing sample.

And you guys should see all his cool stuff. He even made is own beautifully illustrate dice. One I saw was his random treasure generator which was a couple of d6. Each side had a beautiful hand-drawn, color pen and ink drawing of the treasure they rolled! His players have no idea how lucky they are! I am so jeaous. They also got awesome maps and super-sweetly painted minis.

I was actually going to make copies of the character sheets for a game I was going to play this week and they were on my couch.....unfortunately, the NYC crane caused damage on our roof (it will have to be re-done) and when it rained a few days later water fell all over my top floor and on the couch and character sheets as well....not sure if i have any backup copies as those were the "templates" I would rather re-do them anyway as I am always re-thinking the organization....I'll see what I can find when I get back in our house.

Ha,ha! Thanks Jeff! Not all the painted mini's are mine...I trade out DF stuff for painted mini's on occaision. I'm not just a painter, but also an addicted fan!

notice how he didn't mention the dreaded critical hit dice.....black dice with drips of blood...mmmmwwwhhaaa, mmmmwwhhaaaaaa!!!!!!

Stefan, you are sick, twisted, and occasionally evil - all those STAR qualities I like in a gamer person!

Way to go!

Also one HELL of an artist!
