

Quick but important heads-up to all of you Reaper Mini Fans

I just wanted to give you all a heads-up...I received notification today from Reaper Mini's website that they were hacked Wednesday night and all of their customers' credit card info, etc is now most likely in the hands of the hackers. If you've ordered from their website, you may want to call your CC company and check to see if there are any suspicious charges. I didn't find any myself, but the CC company cancelled my card and reissued me a new number just in case. This is not a joke, scam, or spam attempt to badmouth Reaper..I'm a big fan myself...just wanted to give my fellow DF brothers the word in case you hadn't heard. You can read about it on the homepage of their site. I understand they are shutting down the online store until they can figure out how it happened and repair the damage.

Well I am pretty sure that MrMorden was not the thief.

He would have gotten minis! :D

We like Reaper minis. One of the best.
