Sold out?

I recently got enough money to begin buying the fantasy sets, and the two that were must haves on my list, the octogon, and the small passages sets are sold out. Is there any Idea on how long untill they become available again?

Those two sets are out of print...meaning that we don't have any left and we don't plan on making any more. The problem is that we must make a HUGE amount of the stuff if we want to make any, and we have limited funds for what we want to produce. We would rather make new sets -- like the upcoming Floor Set.

Sorry...but you can probable still order them from your local game shop as our distributors still have some of those sets.

:(I was afraid of that. Hopefully I'll get lucky and one of the gameshops in my area can find them, but the distributers around here are notorious for having to order everything special. Oh well, I'm looking forward to the new sets. Thanks for the info.

You can buy Diagonal walls individually, and 6" long corridor segments also individually...

You can still get these sets on eBay: new and used. Keep looking.

Don't fret too much about the Octagonal Room Set. The new Fantasy Starter will include two diagonal walls, as well as filler pieces to go on the backs of them. So, we won't be at a loss for diagonals.

Of course, a set of 12 or so diagonal walls at the new $50 price point would be a very nice thing to have. I'll just have to cross my fingers on that one.

Yes I Would Also Hope that at somepoint there is a set that has an equal number of the triangular Floors to go behind the Diagonal Walls... But I would REALLY like to See the Triangular pieces Sold Separately as well, even as a Limited edition, so that those of us that Have LOTS of Diagonal Walls already will be able to Supplement them instead of having to Buy ALL new Diagonal Walls, which will Still leave us with a Surplus from before...

Will you continue to produce the individual narrow pieces or will those sell out also?
