The PC's continue their quest to recover the nine ancient Netherese books of power. Powerful guardians abound... I especially like the way the dragon hoard turned out.

VERY nice hoard!

And nice shrooms too - where did you get those?

Also - when you make a set-up for you players, do you have it all laid out for them to oogle at right at the start of the game, or do you build it as they go, or do you cover parts they can't see and reveal it as they move forward?

Thanks!

I leave it laid out. I am sneaky however as I put extra monsters on the sideline and any secret areas I build on the fly, if they find them. For this particular module I put every dragon I own on my staging table including the Colossal Red. There were sighs of relief when I picked up the smaller dragon. :) The shrooms are oop armorcast.

Thanks for the info Philip!

I too have found some of the McFarlane Dragons to be useful in my game :)

I like the fact that you included a painting in the treasure pile...of course, it is the most valuable piece in the lot;)
