Indiana Jones miniature?

Does anyone know who makes this mini? Someone was asking about it in another forum, then I remembered hearing some people talking about an Indiana Jones project they were doing here related to the RotA.

while they do look similar, its only because they are based on the same subject: Indiana Jones. If you look closely there are way too many differences to be a mere conversion.

I also looked on the net and found someone else who had painted the exact same figure in question, so it must be a miniature you can purchase somewhere, not just a conversion.

I know from a link on TPM that there are about 11-12 "not" Indy figures, there were however 2 RPG's based on Indy from the 80's and 90's One by TSR one by WEG

It might be one of the Minis from this http://ijc.at/Games/RPG/TSR8_Miniatures.jpg

GS,

Wow, Tang's right, that was an outstanding bit of detective work. Well done.

And, whomever painted that mini did a pretty amazing job. That thing is awesome...

maj!

My Google Fu was strong Yesterday.

I knew there was an RPG before i started looking (remember seeing it in a store in like 1990 or) and looking at the figure it was just Too Indy to be a "not indy"(and i had looked at all of the not indies and they weren't right. TMP had 2-3 threads on indy style minis, and after looking at all of the not indies there were too many things that to me thinks that this was not generic, the pose was right off the Raiders poseter. so i figured there were minis for the RPgame and guessed it might be them, i was figuring WEG, but at first all i cound find where TSR ones.... Then i post and about 5 minutes later i find the WEG ones...
