I've been a KC Chiefs fan for a couple decades now. Just hope with all the changes we can do something. Last year was a bad year. Ummm 2 wins OUCH!!
Sorry guys not much of a Jets or Steelers fan. But I feel we will get stomped when we do play the Steelers though.

I grew up in San Diego, and I've been a Chargers fan ever since. I loved the old days of Air Coryell, with Dan Fouts at the helm. Back then we had the number 1 offense in the NFL, and the number 28 defense - take a random guess as to how many teams there were back then! It was amazing to watch - the Chargers would score 48 points in the game, and could still lose!

But they've been my team through thick and thin. I remember the year the Chargers made it to the Super Bowl. I never held it against the 49ers for beating my team... but did they have to beat the 19 point spread, too?

:D

J-E-T-S....JETSJETSJETS!!!!

(PLEASE don't start Sanchez though - give him at least 8 games to watch, or better yet a whole year!)

Kradlo - LOL i hear ya. Heck my Chiefs haven't made it to the playoffs in way to long. Let alone the Super Bowl.

Harneloot - I hear ya about Sanchez. He needs the time to develop in the pros. I agree with your thought. He needs to watch for a year in my opinion.

Since we have Matt Cassel now I think our QB position is in good shape. Now if we can get the rest of the team on the same page.

I kind of feel if our Steelers win a 7th this year there will be an uprising and they'll be disbanded and spread out amongst the other teams. GO STEELERS!!!
