So today I had a pretty good session. It was fast and furious and quite believably we only took ONE shot all day. I was planning on taking more but you know how it goes.

Here the party stumbles into what I call out of the cooking pot into the fire T-Junctions. The Dwarf fighter barely gets out of the way of a falling block while the Elf ranger (out of focus) is not so lucky and is impaled in his shoulder, spleen and thigh with a spiked wall trap! Fortunately the cleric was right behind him and saved him from certain death.

Mmmchips. :lol:
Looks good. Isn't that the "spider roon	n" you're playing in? :shock:

Not chipspretzels?????
The elf ranger was hit in the "spleen".	Maybe we need a new hit location chart;)

CLEARLY they are chips, you can see the image of the chips on the front of the bag (toward the table
We do NOT need hit charts down to the organ. :rolleyes:

Not sure. Those "images" seem too "orangy" maybe cheez Doodles.
"Mark, Take 54 to your Left Kidney, 43 to your right"
"Daryl, take 31 points to your tonsils." I like it. :rolleyes:

LOL I think they were chips! :)
I wished I took more pictures myself really. But I guess it got too exciting to do anything about it.

SovS,
With all of the Crazy Spleening I Can See How
Hey Thor,
For $10.00 I'll make you a Hit Chart that Does What Ever You Want
MrMorden,
For $30.00 I Won't Sell it to Him
