Old set reedition ?

_____

I was just wondering if the first DF sets (Ogre Den, Digonal Walls, Short Passages etc) will be released one day without bow ties ?
It took me hours to fix the half bow tie to get a bad result and now I have days of work trying to reach perfection on each floor piece.
So If you tell me you are going to release it again I definitvely sell my old sets to get the perfect new ones !

And traps, even if only as limited runs...

I've wanted to mention this several times recently myself. Even if it was just a limited run (not limited edition, just not necessarily a regularly stocked item), to have bowtie-less Short Passages and Diagonal Walls sets would be invaluable. Is there any possibility of this? Or should I plan on doing a lot of puttying and painting?

I would LOVE to release all the sets mentioned above, but unfortunately do to that we have to re-order a LOT of them at once. This stops us from ordering any NEW sets, so it is a hard thing to do. I would love to at least do a revamped Short Passage Set with maybe things reworked a wee bit for some variety.
We will look into that on the next order. Thanks!

Diagonal walls and floor tiles, pretty please? I'd love to have some diagonals, but I only just got started into the collecting (and am glad the bowties are gone). Also, a short passage set would be cool; at the moment, the room and passageway set (advertised as being the best starting set) isn't a great deal of use because you can't make any length of straight passageway with it.
