

Upcoming Fantasy Set

So we know that around october, we get our grubby little hands on the Fantasy floor tiles set. And that 'sometime' down the line, the Cavernous Water Set will be released. This leaves quite a big hole in scheduling around christmas, when the new doors are going to be released. What else will be released with them? Does anyone have any ideas? Will this be a 'Door Set' with portcullises, new doors, secret doors and magic doors? Or maybe a Fantasy Starter Set like Sci-Fi is getting, with a few floor tiles, some walls and maybe a couple of passages, as well as a couple of doors?

Anyone have any ideas? If not, speculation is good, too :)

Upcoming Fantasy Set

hmm...well

I don't think new portcullises will be released considering in game play they are generally used as a large gate. You can always lock the new doors when they come out if you want something smaller. But I think there is a good chance of a fantasy starter set. Dwarven Forge is looking to expand so this would only be logical. I only wonder what pieces would the starter set include? It might even be helpful to add to a large collection, if it has a nice assortment of pieces. Anyhow I think we also have a chance of getting a tavern set. at least that's what the latest polls are showing.... :?:

I Believe that a "Fantasy" Set was Mentioned by Jeff in another Thread... One of the Items was Going to be Triangular Floor Section to Fill The Gaps made by Diagonal Walls in Interior Set ups... But that is All that I Recall being Mentioned... (For that Set)... The Doors may be Individual Pieces... And Jeff Mentioned a "Suprise" Set Was Coming out at Some Point, when we were Talking about Modular Taverns, and He Said that they were NOT planning One "Exactly" but that they Were working on "Something"...
