What's with the five boxes?

On the right side of our posts, underneath the User ID and icon, between the user's rank and the number of posts, there are five solid squares in a horizontal row.

What are they for? And what do the different colors mean?

Before there were five boxes there was a white, gray & green line.....then it switched a few days ago to the boxes and we got titles.

I know that doesn't explain anything, I'm just saying I noticed the lines first, and now, as you, I ponder about the boxes...

Pretty sure it has something to do with the ranks/post count. Noticed some of the other posters, like someone with 1 post has a yellow bar, with only one square filled in.
Someone with less than 200 has almost the full bar filled in, but it is still yellow, someone with 500+ all filled in yellow, 1000+ looks purple, and me with 2000+ is blue.
so likley there is a relationship with amount filled in and post count, which ties into "rank" newbie
goblin
orc
ogre
minotaur
minotaur lord

etc.

Think of it like a gas gauge, as your post count increases for the tier you're in it fills up. When you reach the next lvl, you start over with a new color and at the beginning of the boxes being full.
