Private Message action
Posted by Lucaswaj - 2010/05/31 13:07

_____

It would be great to have a Private Message action where you can send private messages to other forum members.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by jackattack - 2013/01/15 07:22

_____

Seconded.

When forum members want to contact each other for any reason, it is much safer to exchange personal contact info like proper names, e-mail addresses, telephone numbers, and street addresses through a private message function.

Rather than, say, putting them up on the forums where anyone can see them.

It is important to remember that these forums are completely public, and their content is fully accessible by internet searches. So the information isn't just going to the one person you want to share it with, or just us registered forum-goers, or even just the guests who happen to read a particular thread, but potentially to anyone anywhere in the world.

Posting this kind of information on the internet not only puts you at potential risk for scams, identity theft, and even personal harm, but everyone in your household -- until that information changes (and maybe even after) or the information is taken down (which you can't do if someone quotes that post).

PM, please.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by monkplayer - 2013/01/15 09:15

_____

I also want a PM feature and the ability to subscribe to a specific forum. By subscribing to forum posts I can then be notifies when someone posts something.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by biowizard - 2013/01/17 07:58

_____

I also wish I could be contacted privately while being able to contact others!

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by M4jumbo - 2013/01/17 08:20

_____

I agree that a private message function would be a useful option.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by Frog - 2013/01/25 08:22

_____

I agree. Private Message function is very essential for any forum actually. It's much safer than posting your email in a thread so others can contact you.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by Keeblerorc - 2013/05/17 07:19

_____

Private message function and more band width to speed up the site would be awesome.

==========

Re:Private Message action
Posted by LordDust - 2013/05/17 16:51

_____

I definitely agree that a pm function would be fantastic. An upgrade to the backend might also be in order, but that will of course depend on what the Forge Folk can workout and afford. The upgrade would help support the increased use of the boards.

==========