Rackham discounts in Confrontation and AT-43

Hi pals, I've mentioned in one of L's awesome pics post, yesterday I found that Rackham has it's Age of Ragnarok and AT-43 prepainted minis with -70% discounts in lots of them, and the rest with -50% and -30% discounts. Some prices are just plain bargains.

Europe shipping costs are free (or at least in my order to Spain they have been).

Hope it helps! greetings,

Are they 25mm?

I think so, I've yet to receive them. Either that or 28mm.

The base is just a little bigger than 1 inch (and that's why I've kept my hands away from them until now) but I've seen some in L's setups (you can find them in the cool photos section) and I think they'll do fine with DF and other minis like Reaper or WotC prepainted D&D minis.

L can tell much better than me. I expect to get mines in a couple of days or so.

Greetings,

Hi, finally I've found out what it's all about, I've read in the home that these offers are from June 30th to August 3th, as "summer offers".

Greetings,

They're roughly 28mm, same as Reaper. The bases are thick, so that gives them a little extra elevation, but the scale is still the same.

I really am impressed by them, though they aren't perfect. IMHO, they're among the best pre-painted minis out there. I just wish they'd release them more often, and get more into some of the classic Confrontation designs. Right now the bulk of the line is, sadly, somewhat generic.

Hi friends, well, on friday I had my Age of Ragnarok minis on the post, and I'm very happy with them!

Here I've uploaded some pics, but they are not very good because I'm not skilled enough and so the colors look pretty ugly with the flash. In the pics the varios types of transparent plastic look awful and so does the dark colous, and even the metalic ones. All of them seem very "plastic-y", but in person they are very nice.

I've put the Rackham minis along with some DF Skeletons, some Reaper miniatures, and a couple of WotC D&D minis. One nice detail about this minis is that they come "pinned" with two pins in the base, making it much more easier to remove from the base than the Mage Knight or D&D ones.
