Super cool map mon ami!

You should post it in the HQ.es forum, I bet you would tempt a lot of future DF addicts.

About the colored ROTA entrance... I guess you mean the colored intersection right?

Greetings!

Those maps are pretty impressive. Could you post a link, please? Also, is there somewhere where I can find the resources for the DF sets so that they're readily importable to the TILE SYSTEM? As you can tell, I'm not all that tech savvy so any help would be greatly appreciated. I could see a use for this kind of thing with WoTC's new VT, although obviously its main use for me would be with the ease of planning potential set-ups on the computer rather than getting all the physcial sets out (fun though that is!)

Not to worry - sorted it; great tool. Will the Ruins and Chasm set be added to the resources?

I sent photos of all non-SciFi pieces to pfworks a couple of months ago. He said he was going to add the drawings and then release a new version.

Here's a link to the most recent photos. You'll have to add links to your data files to use them though.
