I am selling.... (Germany/Europe)

Posted by Dicetimo - 2011/04/15 12:55

Sorry to say, but I have to part with my collection.

My time is too limited, my resources too and my house is being build at the moment ;-)

But after all I am very sad to part with my over 25 sets. Since I live in Germany I had to invest quite alot in the shipping. All the parts (except one stair) are in excellent condition, often just without the plastic bag around the individual piece.

Since I am updating my article page on a single place I am just posting the link and hope this is okay. Please feel free to ask questions here or via email to info (at) abenteuer-schmiede (DOT) de

Just a small teaser:
Nearly all cavern sets,
several sci-fi sets,
a trap set 2,
and an OGRE'S DEN (I love this one and would hardly keep it).

See more here

Best wishes,
Timo

This is no problem. I am sorry to say that that the postage will be 34,- Euros for the Ogres Den, adding another 10,- Euros for an additional set (or two). I will have to check in detail when you tell me what you want in addition to the den.

First of all I will hold back the den until your reply.

Hey, not trying to be pushy/nosy or annoying, BUT, its quite likely the ABS2 and Ruins sets will be in stock this summer around August (crossing my fingers on the Ruins set). DF usually gets a container from China around then for Gen Con. Shipping would be much cheaper too :-)

Cheers!

I have to agree to Harneloots statement. My costs include part of the original (very high) shipping costs to Germany and now I will charge additional costs to send it back to the USA. For European buyers this is valid and a good deal, but for actual sets being shipped back to the US is way to much.

The Ogre's Den is OOP, so there is possibly no other way to get it. I will give you the costs if you want them, mhutton, but in your case it would be best to wait until the restock. I will have shipping costs not until next week when I have a fitting shipping box. I already miscalculated a shipment to france losing 10,– so I will be more exact this time ;-)

Best wishes,
Timo

Hi Dave,

shipping will be 8,60 Euro with DHL uninsured or 9,90 Euro with Hermes insured, both in addition to the 5,- Euro for the stairs.

Best wishes,
Timo

So if you are taking the Den only is totals 230,- €. According to the dollar/euro conversion 1 Euro equals 1,43 U.S. Dollar (PayPal may differ a bit), so it would add up to 328,90 Euro.

Oh, sorry! A typo!

It's 328,90 Dollar, not Euro. That's for the Ogre's Den with shipping.

@David Wasilewski & pusherman: Your boxes are on their way. Thank you for the deal.

@mhutton: Are you still in? I can understand if this is too expensive, just tell me.

And thanks to all of you who gave me their regrets on having to sell the collection, it surely was no easy decision. But now have fun with your new parts. :-)

Best wishes,
Timo

Hi Chris (Pusherman)

What do you play?

I am a part of two groups of gamers. One lot who mainly wargame (anything really but we play Warmaster the most) and another lot who mainly role play. We've been playing 4th ed D&D since it came out but are getting a bit fed up of it now and have moved over to Savage Worlds system.

Our group is made up of mature gamers (all aged 30-40). There are about 6 gamers in each group and we meet about once a month to wargame and about once a month to roleplay.

Is Hebden Bridge East Lancs?

@David

At the moment its just 5 of us who meet every fortnight to play 4e, we're currently in a Dark sun campaign, but next month we are having a big weekend session where I shall be running 'Tomb of Horrors' using all the lovely DF stuff, can't wait.
We are also in the 30-40 age group and most have played wargames in the past (warhammer mainly) but its generally just D&D interspersed with the odd board game, Talisman, Descent etc. when one of the group can't make it.
Hebden Bridge is just over the border in West Yorkshire, its probably about an hours drive away from Chorley.

Wish I had the time to join your group too but my family responsibilities mean that once a month is about as much as I can do!

If my group ever folds I'll look you up!

@Timo

Just received them all in the post this morning, thankyou very much for posting them off promptly and safetly.

It's my first of the Rivers and Walls set, its amazing looking, I especially love the bridge with the SP+MP engraved on the log underneath, a great touch.
