

Sign up for a request to see the Sultan Gaming Table.

Posted by thenorthman - 2008/11/13 15:18

Want a chance to see the Sultan Gaming Table in person. They are doing a road show starting Nov. 23rd then going to Anchorage! Do not side track them to your place before they come to Anchorage. :)

<http://www.geekchichq.com/The%20Roadshow/roadshow.html>

GREAT TABLE!!!

Sean

=====

Sign up for a request to see the Sultan Gaming Table.

Posted by Thod - 2008/11/14 07:27

Sean

I guess there isn't a chance they make a detour to the UK ... Once again as non-US we have the short straw.

I did some measurements. To get it into our house / the gaming room - we would have either to take out the front sash window temporarily (old Victorian house) or we would have to go through a small allyway in the back, hoist it up over a 2 meter high wall and get it in from the back.

I also measured the gaming room. It would fit - with enough space around it to sit. It might still be too massive for the room - as it would completely dominate it. A shlightly smaller version would be appreciated - and I still wait for photos with the top on to show how it looks as a dining table.

Well - the wife just got a new car yesterday. But I will watch out what is happening at GeekChic - and also watch the progress of the Roadshow. Maybe - one day ...

Thod

=====

Sign up for a request to see the Sultan Gaming Table.

Posted by Harneloot - 2008/11/14 07:41

Indeed!

....maybe...one day....

=====