Ummm, What ever happened to the Gladiator Arena I just saw you make on YouTube? As I pick my chin up off the floor and call an Orthopedic Surgeon and drool all over the floor, I sure would like to know if by some chance you had one for sale?

That was more of a demo item than a production set. It was never available for sale publicly, which I think was attributed to the high cost (production due to materials, shipping due to weight) and the specifity of the set.

There was a thread (or two) devoted to it at the time. Try the Advanced Search function if you want to hunt for it.

Dwarven Forge is not producing any Gladiator arena.

Here is a link I know (amongst many) where you could get a similar product (painted/assembled or not):
http://terranscapes.com/products/structures.php http://www.youtube.com/user/Terranscapes#p/u/11/xtNAZ6rdTug p.s. This product probably does not come cheap... and in my mind is not modular at all, unlike all of DF's products!!!

I did a search about the arena before I posted  this topic. I also tried the advanced search using the same words "Gladiator Arena." No luck either time. I was just curious if DF has the arena stored some place! Man that arena is a piece of art!

Under "Search Options", set "Find Posts from" to "Any date" instead of the standard "A year ago" "And newer".
A search for "gladiator arena" calls up seven pages of posts going back to 2004.
