Zombies

_____

I'm looking to build up a horde of zombies. I don't want more than one of any one zombie so any help finding a huge variety would help. Any advice? I'm going to start with otherworld zombies then go from there.

_____

Games Workshop has a zombie box with 20 included and since upper and lower body are sperate there are alot of combinations available including a large mixture of weapons.
There are also some grave stones included.
Some also like the undead from Mantic games. I believe they have some zombies too.
You might also want to take a look at Freebooters since I believe they have some pirate zombies, not sure though.

Have fun browsing those.

_____

Modern era or fantasy? If fantasy, don't ignore "lich" as a search term.

Also, doesn't (at least) one of the miniature skirmish games feature an undead faction? That might also be a good source.

_____

Fantasy. I like the mantic and warhammer zombies, but I'm looking for ones not wielding weapons.

_____

Mantic are cheap, can be assembled without any weapon and can be customized one by one.

This is my small horde:

Here is a set from heroscape, It comes with two prepainted of each. I know you said you wanted them to be all diffrent. You can easily cut off a limb from one to make it diffrent from the other. Alot of times I remove limbs from the prepainted stuff and reattach in a diffrent position, If you did not want to cut limbs off you could allways heat limb alittle and bend it into a new position.
