It has been awhile since I read those. Great stuff! Maybe he can do the Hobbit someday too.

In my opinion, this is the best of them all!!!... by far!

Le Donjon de Naheulbeuk: http://www.penofchaos.com/warham/donjon.htm

It's a saga of very funny and cliche silly D&D characters (grumpy barbarian, greedy dwarf, beautiful idiot and naive female elf, stupid always-hungry ogre, knows-it-all mage, gay bard...) having many adventures in over 30 free MP3 audio files. The only problem for large audiences is that it's in french...

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/boite_peints28mm_figurines.jpg

The creator of this saga (and a few of his friends) also makes music shows about RPG and I saw him twice in shows in Montreal, very entertaining!

Well, I'm actually old enough that I heard them twenty-odd years ago when they were going around for the second or third time.

Oh, Harvard Lampoon's Bored of the Rings.

I found a copy when I was a teenager. Couldn't get through a single page without cracking up. My parents thought I was brain damaged.

...There has been only 1 post or so upon the DF forum over the last 48 hours. Are the usual readers busy reading (and laughing) game-related comics?

Those are pretty funny too. Gold, the series, also has its moments.

I assume most of us have watched The Gamers, Dorkness Rising? Also, the DnD movies are so bad that they could maybe qualify as spoofs.

And for your iPods:

"DM Hold Music"
"D&D" by Stephen Lynch
"It's a Fanboy Christmas" by the Great Luke Ski

Ohhhh! I almost forgot! You should all see the Farador dungeon at:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nhmUj9QJ9RM
...and don't forget part 2: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=T9FMURHhgzc&NR=1

It's wickedly funny.

(It's french canadian but the subtitles are quite alright)

I recently stumbled over very funny D&D cartoons: The Order of the Stick!
http://www.giantitp.com/comics/oots.html
There's over 800 pages of neatly drawn D&D characters and many of the first 300 pages I've read last Saturday (I just could not stop reading them until late at night) made me laugh to tears! Read a few, they're that good.
