Water tiles discoloration
Posted by patoumonde - 2011/10/09 21:50

---

Hi,

I recently noticed some discoloration around the edges of my river and lake tiles. Dark greens are starting to show pale glow around the edges.

Has this been adressed by others on other threads? I know they've been out for a while now but i dont use water themes that much so i just noticed it.

Any other collectors have this problem? Has DF made any statements? Are there replacements available?

Any info would be appreciated.

Thanks

Pat

==========

Re:Water tiles discoloration
Posted by Arcarius2001 - 2011/10/09 23:56

---

That's the first I have heard of it. There is an earlier post about fingerprints on the water tiles and how to remove them.
Is it the entire edge? If not, maybe could be the oils from your fingers that did it. Just a wild guess.
But just in case, i will now wipe down the edges of mine after each use.

==========

Re:Water tiles discoloration
Posted by jackattack - 2011/10/10 06:59

---

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/forum?func=view&catid=21&id=27857

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/forum?func=view&catid=21&id=27876#27877

The links above lead to a thread that got split in the big website renovation. Please note that the thread is from 2008.

This is a known problem with water tiles. I don't know if it was specific to a particular batch, or if it is a problem with materials/manufacture. The last I heard DF was looking into it for a permanent fix.

==========

Re:Water tiles discoloration

Posted by patoumonde - 2011/10/10 20:12

_____

Thanks for the heads up. I posted in the other thread about a replacment offer.

Pat

==========