FINALLY! After three years!

I've finally been able to "Win", a DOE Room & Passage set for $149.00 (including shipping)!!!

I made a big mistake never buying the set when they were available even though I bought multiple sets of the other two DOE sets.

Just wanted to share such a great moment! lol

Nice! Congrats.
This just goes to show that you should buy the limited edition sets while they are in stock or better yet, on preorder! Otherwise it's a looong wait to snag one seconhand.
Glad I have my preorder for Woodland Sets in.

Excellent news! I have two and have always toyed with getting a third...You will love it, especially the T intersections! (and will finally understand my long, plaintive cry for a 6" straight DoE Hallway!)

Congratz. That is a good price considering they were going for 250.00 for a short time. The price has dropped some on them but that is still a very reasonable price. I want one more WE and I will feel like my DOE collection is complete. Well except for the long hallways :D

Congrats- I paid around $250 for mine. I've been dying to get some of the WA sets and the ruins set, but what money I had to spend on DF just had to go to the Woodland Set pre-order because I certainly didn't want to pay that kind of money for a limited set again!

Now if I could just get my group together to frickin play already...

Thanks everyone!

It almost felt as though I would never own a DoE R&P set since everytime I found one listed on eBay someone, actually many other people, would outbid me and made the price WAAAAAY toooo much for my pocket!

Granpappy said it best: "...but what money I had to spend on DF just had to go to the Woodland Set..."!

Now, my one concern is not having a 6" straight DoE Hallway. Harneloot, I'm joining your cause!

Also, for those who served in the Military...Happy Veteran's Day!
