Pre-order - billed when order placed or shipped?

Posted by Ninthgoose - 2012/01/18 11:54

Hi Thod,
Nice to see a uk seller at last.
I sent an email, via your contact form but didn't get any responce to let me know if it sent ok.

But your site, states, pre-orders, but I cannot find or have missed, if you are charging cards, at the time the pre-order is placed, or when they ship out from you?

Secondly, some items listed as out of stock. Any updates on an expected re-stock timetable?

Cheers

John

I think you have to pay via Paypal which will take your money when you place the order, then the items will get posted when they arrive.

Hi, Jens just emailed infact. To confirm that.
But thanks for the update.

Now to decide what I need, sorry want! :)

Ninthgoose

Thanks for being back. I try to be quick answering but sometimes it takes a moment.

For future readers who might wonder the same

Yes - money is taken directly. This is how PayPal works.

The good news - the ship seems to make good progress. You might get DF earlier as expected.

The bad news - it likely means that the pre-order isn't open that much longer. I will keep it open at least until 10th of February but currently it doesn't look like it will stay open beyond that date.
