Cool. Thanks for putting all the most elaborate setups in 1 place for us to browse and link to our gaming buddies. It will save me some time now and then.

Though now I somehow feel inadequate..hmm.

wow..Tom, thank you :)
I am a little embarrassed to be presented with 3 names of that caliber..
hmm..is like a game..find the intruder :-)

PS x Tom
In the last photos of my tables there is a setup used one night, but as written in the blog was borrowed from a friend.
if you keep the photos write that is not mine..
(but I'm building something very similar, and I will make a post in few months)

Endar I think your setups are easily of their caliber. I love visiting your blog!

Love the pics, and I do appreciate the compliment of including me in this group. I knew you and Endar had put together some amazing displays, but I had never seen many of Insane Overlord's pics. Thanks for sharing those. That guy is "insanely" creative. You guys weren't kidding about him. Absolutely love the pics! These pics inspire me to assemble more dioramas. It is so refreshing to see others who are as passionate about building these types of dioramas as I am! Awesome!
