Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by Law - 2012/03/12 15:34

This reminds me of something... hmmm....

http://elisandre-librairie-oeuvre-au-noir.blogspot.com/2011/08/le-cafe-de-lenfer-ou-le-paris.html

==========

Re:Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by Arcarius2001 - 2012/03/12 16:49

How in the world did you find this?? Although it seems Stefan may have seen it first.
The inside evokes a certain DOE feel too. Gotta love the French.

==========

Re:Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by Lordannilhus - 2012/03/12 20:06

Whaou, very nice ! :)

Thanks for sharing Law.....

Some informations in english for you about this cafe :

"Le Café de L'Enfer was a Hell-themed café in Paris' red light district (aka Pigalle, the neighborhood of the Moulin Rouge), created in the late 19th century and operating until sometime around the middle of the 20th."

Soon

Lord

==========

Re:Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by morgar - 2012/03/12 23:42

Cool did'nt know that place. Old postal card. Morgarette said me "that was a super cofee shop".

paradise and hell side by side

==========

Re:Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by sbrndf11 - 2012/03/19 17:49

_____

Despite the grainy pictures, that really looks stunning. Someone needs to reproduce this, perhaps in NYC or Las Vegas.

==========

Re:Hrm.. looks familiar
Posted by Law - 2012/03/19 20:50

_____

Glad you guys liked it -- a friend of mine who's interested in art and architecture showed it to me.

I LOVE the architecture of Paris, but I had never seen anything like this before. I never saw it, myself, but I spent comparatively little time in the red light district. It was pretty touristy when I was there from what I could tell (not that I held that against it -- merely admitting that in avoiding it I wasn't trying to be all chaste and pure)

==========