Pre-Order Due Dates and Bonus Items/Prices

Posted by jgardner44 - 2012/06/18 06:45

I've wanted to pre-order some of the Dwarven Forge sets to obtain pre-order bonuses, but I've had trouble finding the pre-order due dates and the bonus items/prices that are offered for large pre-orders.

Is this something that could be posted on the NEWS tab for customers to find easily? Perhaps I'm just missing this information in some other easy to find spot.

If someone could let me know I would appreciate it.

I missed out on the icy cavern pre-order bonuses and I would love to get some of those items if they were ever offered again in another set or as a large purchase order bonus.

The large ice crystal pillars really add alot to the pictures of this set. It makes me wish that the cavern sets came with some large stalagmites or stalagtites to add some more height to the parts of these sets.

Bonus pieces are usually only for the new release of a set during the pre-order period. Once that is over there it is usually no longer possible to get the discount price and often the bonus piece as well. As for the normal cavern sets, there are many great looking and larger stalagmites in the Cavernous Chasm set, which will hopefully be back in stock this winter.

Once the promos are over, and if there are any left, bonus pieces now become available for sale as individual pieces for a short time until there are none left. As an example, the monster nest is now available since the promo for buying 3 Ruins Sets is over. Finally, I you are planning to make one big order (in the thousands of dollars), contact Jeff by email!!!

Waiting for these cool (no pun intended) Ice Cavern promo pieces to go on sale.
Jeff, are these still on schedule to be released today (he asks hopefully...)?

Thanks!
