The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room

Posted by jgardner44 - 2012/09/29 20:01

_____

Below is my new banquet set that my friend John made for me. Also you will see my pet giant squig accidently smelled the roasted deer on the table. That's why you keep the family pet locked up during family events.
http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/feast_day_2.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/feast_day_3.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/feast_day_food_close_up.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/somebody_was_hungry.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/somebody_was_hungry_2.jpg

Get OFF the table Spot. That deer is for company!

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room

Posted by Shadbelly - 2012/09/29 21:30

_____

Wow! Very cool, I would love to see a tutorial on how the food was made.

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room

Posted by jgardner44 - 2012/09/29 21:36

_____

My friend John sells his items on ebay. If you search for Dwarven Forge you will see his small bottles, books, and food items. It's all pretty amazing, but I don't think he'll post a tutorial since that's how he is funding his hobby right now ;).

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room

Posted by VladTaltos - 2012/09/29 22:07

_____

Wow! This is just awsomeness wrapped up in total cool.

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by jgardner44 - 2012/09/29 23:20

_____

I wanted to share the beautiful banquet tables and food that you couldn't see in my first set of photos. You can see that I have the tables to set up a much larger castle great room celebration feast when I have the room built.
http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/gear_for_a_huge_feast.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/beautiful_28mm_food.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/28mm_cheese.jpg

http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/28mm_pastry.jpg

I really need to find more 28mm figures in a sitting pose or adapt my own for these chairs.

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Pusherman - 2012/09/30 03:57

_____

thats crazy cool, love it.

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Shadbelly - 2012/09/30 09:22

_____

jgardner44 wrote:
My friend John sells his items on ebay. If you search for Dwarven Forge you will see his small bottles, books, and food items. It's all pretty amazing, but I don't think he'll post a tutorial since that's how he is funding his hobby right now ;).

Being able to buy them pre made is even better!

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Shadox - 2012/09/30 15:02

_____

that banquet hall gets a Double YOU ROCK THE FREE WORLD!!!!

-Shadox

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Kronos - 2012/09/30 16:56

_____

Wow!!! Awesoooooooome! :D

Wow! This is just awsomeness wrapped up in total cool.
Indeed!

I didn't find this on ebay. Where can I buy this? Could you please post a link to his ebay shop? :)

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Stefan - 2012/09/30 23:33

_____

Beautiful!

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by Arcarius2001 - 2012/09/30 23:59

_____

Nice accessories! I have some of his stuff as well, but he seems to have kicked it up on the food! I just have the fruit bowls, etc.
Kronos, I found it while just searching for Dwarven Forge on eBay. He only posts things sporadically though (if it is the same gent). He just had some furniture, map room and a fountain up a week or so back.

==========

Re:The Feast or don't let Spot in the dinning room
Posted by jgardner44 - 2012/10/04 22:11

_____

Arcarius, that is the same guy with the war room / map room. I've told him to post on these forums if he wants his contact information given out :).

==========