So, I was browsing the DF website today, and I happened to click on the "Individual Pieces" section to see if there was anything new.

Oh, boy, is there!

There is all kinds of stuff now appearing that was not there a couple of weeks ago. Things like Arrow Loop Passages, Five Ton Blocks, Red Pillars Sets, etc.

Sadly, I strongly suspect that this is some sort of glitch. You would think DF would announce it if they suddenly got all of this stuff in stock.

I just upgraded to Internet Explorer 9--could that be causing things to appear on the site which are supposed to be "hidden"?

Some of these items they had for sale on their old website but when they changed to the new one, they didnt include them. I'm guessing that because they are out of a lot of major sets they are trying to give us something to buy. If you notice a lot of the pieces have bow tie holes so those arent new stock. I'm not sure why they held onto them for so long.....

They do have stairs and blocks back in stock and that is probably new. Either way I already placed my order :)

BTW I think there are only like 6 ruined entrances left before those are sold out. I had to pick up a second one as I shudder to think what that will cost in 2 years from ebay.

Well, I wasn't going to place an order because I didn't want to create any extra work for the DF folks if this stuff is just showing up in error. But, damn, I'd be so ticked at myself if it was real and it all sold out before I could jump on it.

So, my order has been placed.

Posted by M4jumbo - 2011/05/03 22:41 DF announced the addition of individual pieces on Facebook, so I don't think its a glitch. Looking forward to ordering some myself. Re:Did a bunch of new individual pieces appear? Posted by zazulu - 2011/05/03 23:30 I just placed an order for a few of those spiffy items. Who wouldn't like a few traps and such? I would suggest becoming a fan of Dwarven Forge's Facebook page. I scurried over as soon as I got the message regarding the new (old) stuff. Re:Did a bunch of new individual pieces appear? Posted by Pusherman - 2011/05/04 02:22 Yeah I saw the message on facebook too, I have ordered myself a few stairs and a few other things to make the postage worthwhile.
