_____

I just watched an episode of 21 Jumpstreet. It made me sorry to be alive.

It wasn't my idea. In fact, it was my first indication that having a Tivo can actually be a bad thing.

Can the creators be tried for crimes against humanity?

_____

I vaguely remember 21 jumpstreet. It was about an "elite" police force of young looking undercover detectives who went into high schools to do their police thing.

As for its quality...come on now... it was the 80's...maybe

Let's not forget jumpstreets greatest contribution for which all other sins should be forgiven... bringing Johnny Depp out into the public.

_____

That's the show where Johnny Depp and Richard Grieco got their start. I used to look Richard Grieco when I was 50 pounds lighter... rofl.

I Never Saw that Show, but I always "Assumed" that it was sort of an Updated Version of the "Mod Squad"... Which was Pretty Bad as Well...

_____

Johnny Depp has always been really clear about how much he hated that show. He wanted to have interesting roles and do interesting things, and they tried to turn him into a heart-throb teen idol there, and he hated it. He used to fill his mouth with crackers before takes so you couldn't understand what he was saying.

I've never watched the show, but I remember when it was on. I feel old now.
