Good day fellow addicts,

My daughter recently fell in love with Reaper's Echidnox, Hedgehog Hero. The problem is they no longer make it. I've tried eBay (lost out because I found the auction too late) to no avail. I found another one online but the individual wanted $40.00 for it.

I would love to paint one up for my daughter to use during our adventures, (She is currently a mouse warrior who was once an Eladrin Ranger but was cursed by a powerful wizard.) but was hoping to spend no more then $20.00. If anyone has one that they could part with they would make a 9 year old girl very

That is better than the fabulous Mousling adventurers recently running around the place.

I hope someone can help you out for your daughter.

But then I am next in line!

Boy when she picks a figure, she picks a figure. This was only sold for a few months in 2009. Talk about giving daddy a hard task.

As a father I do understand how this kind of thing happens. Good Luck!!!

I will inquire with the folks who frequent my area shop to see if anyone has one they will part with. Depending on your feelings about duplication for personal use, if you can't find one to purchase you could always try to borrow one and cast a duplicate. After all, they are no longer in production and you aren't trying to resell or misrepresent it as an original.

Still illegal.
Besides, playing around with mouse adventurers is one thing, but hedgehogs are a gateway miniature. Soon she'll want chipmunk minis, then ferrets and otters. The next you know she's hiding badgers from you and if there's one thing you don't need, it's her sneaking badgers!

If finding one of those limited edition minis is not possible you could try to interest her in the darksword miniatures line - they have some amazing peices.

jackattack,
I know that the hedgehog is a gateway mini but I would rather have her get it from me then a random thug dealer in some dark, seedy game store.

Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by TexasStu - 2013/05/30 17:57 Pay the $40. After all, what price can you place on your daughter's happiness? (psst, it's cheaper than a LOT of things you will be buying her!) And seriously, how much do you spend on your hobby? ;-) How much would you spend to see your daughter's face light up? Besides! Sounds like quite a little collector's item! Or you can get her started colloecting Barbie's for $60-$160 each? Or computer games at $50+ each and have her tell you she "finished" the game in less than a week. :-

An interim solution might be to print out the pics you have (or higher quality ones if they're available) and make a stand up "figure flat" mini for her.

It won't be real, perhaps in the same sense that some people decry plastic mini's as not "true" minis, "lead and pewter or die," but she'll still have some hedgehoggy goodness.

superior!

According to Reaper's website, "12 Days of Reaper" will start on Friday, 6 December. Or at least more details will be revealed that day, but I think that will be the first day. So, I believe that you might need to check back on the Reaper site each day, starting on the 6th, in order to find out what the special will be on that day. That is, they may not announce anything except on the specific day in question. So don't forget

Thanks for the reminder.

Good luck on this one, my daughter also wants this one. She's a big sonic fan and when she saw a moc of it (someone's avatar) she "had to have it". We're still keeping an eye out, but not hunting.
Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by willmontgomery - 2013/12/06 06:29
Sorry all, but it looks like Echidnox was not included among the "12 Days of Reaper" this year. They do have some "Mouselings", but no hedgehogs. Maybe next year
Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by dungeoncrawler - 2013/12/06 11:31
I wonder if there is enough interest to warrant another sculpt?

If only we knew someone with a miniatures company who could produce something like this;) Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by dungeoncrawler - 2013/12/07 07:40 I'd need a LOT of pre-orders to go that niche! ;) Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by Frog - 2013/12/07 10:38 If I were in your situation and I knew that this one mini meant the world to my daughter, I would figure out the maximum I'd be willing to spend and then pull the trigger with 15 seconds left in the auction. Just make sure you are already logged in when you camp out. But it seems like you are not willing to pay the going rate for this rare figure. 4 Days Left and here is your chance for this mini... 161167545588 Or just find some other mini that she would like. Show her the Reaper Bones Mouslings that will be out next year. Really, you should have just paid $40 for it. I don't think you will find it that cheap. So if you still have access to it for that price then get it for her for a Christmas present!

Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by thebigteacher - 2013/12/07 16:22

It is still available for 40.00 elsewhere. I bid to $25.00 and am done. I'll keep trying.

Generated: 23 April, 2014, 20:50 Posted by dafrca - 2013/12/09 13:28 What about this one? Auction with Echidnox in it. At the time of this post it is only at $13 with one day left on it. Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by Frog - 2013/12/09 14:07 Here is the auction dafrca is talking about... 121230302411 Re:My Daughter Needs a Hedgehog Posted by dafrca - 2013/12/09 14:43 I see it has already been bumped up from the $13.00 it was when I posted.
