unfortunately, we won't be getting any stock before Gen Con...We will be taking pre-orders for Game Tiles for those who might have missed the Kickstarter or who want more...our booth will be a little different this year as well...yes, we will have lots of Game Tiles on hand to play with we are flying some in by air from the factory production! An update with photo's on that coming very soon....

Thanks, stefan. I appreciate your quick response.

I await the restock announcement eagerly.

As for Gencon - I like to GM - playing is a distant second for me. My friends prefer to play so gencon works well for them.

Perhaps next year when 5th gets released I will go down. I have told my buddies that I will go with them and I expect they will hold me to that promise.

I have a year to find some games to GM or I will end up bankrupting myself in the vendor area and drinking way too much.

Perhaps next year we will have to meet up for a round... gaming, drinking, or both... and spending too much in the vendor area is very easy. Fortunately they don't take first-borns, I would miss my daughter! :P

Two questions for you Stefan...

- 1. Will the Game Tiles pre-orders you speak of be on the web-site before or after Gencon?
- 2. Will you do an awesome Zaltar video (like Catacombs) to promote the Game Tiles?
