Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by prophetic_joe - 2013/10/18 20:35

This thing is incredible so far. There is a shipping issue to overseas backers that some people are complaining because last time Reaper ate a lot of the cost. Reaper did a great job and actually showed the breakdown of where the money from the first Kickstarter went which is just an unprecidented move. When the pledge calculator came out though a lot of international backers understood and were pleasently surprized at the cost of shipping.

Anyway check it out, tons of sweet dragon minis, giants, a Kraken, ratmen, centaurs and much more to come. This thing has 8 days left 1 core set at $100 that costs less than $1 per mini and is only getting bigger, there are expansion sets for $50 that have stretch goals to add to them as well and of course awesome add-ons. Get in there and pledge guy and gals, the more money pledged the more cool stuff we get, you all know the drill!

Yeah, I couldn't resist myself. I'm in for over a hundred. Hard to sell to the wife since I've not been madly painting all that I got on the last one but she understands. Although with Bones2 and Plate Mail Games MP3s I'm done for the year.

Yea I'm with Stu as far as KSers go I'm done till the next DF early next year. It should give me enough time to save hopefully I can get just as much as I did last time but we shall see

Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by LordDust - 2013/10/19 06:52

The core set is a really nice deal, it was actually to less than 70 cents a mini last I calculated it. I'm

As for KS, I am backing this one, DF's next one, and hopefully the MBA castle one. Other than those a KS will have to blow me away to try to get any of my money. ______ Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Sir William - 2013/10/22 03:31 While it is difficult to estimate the Bones II Kickstarter, it seems that Reaper has definitely created the potential for excitement in the final few days. Some people don't enjoy the "Expansion Packs" concept, but Reaper seems to have created the potential for a cascade of alternating updates (Expansion Pack 2, Expansion Pack 3, Add-on, Core Set, rinse, repeat). Not sure if that is the plan, but it should be interesting to watch. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by the bigteacher - 2013/10/22 03:43 If the core set doesn't sweeten some more I just might back out. I'm an early-bird backer so if I do decline I'll post a time here so someone can jump in and score it. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Legendox - 2013/10/22 04:19 they mentioned in their last update that the core set was going to expand more She's a great enormous worm-like creature, suitable as a Lovecraftian horror, the Demon Lord of Charnel Grubs, or the Mother of all Devouring Worms! Once we reach $2,275,000, she can be yours by simply increasing you pledge by $12!!

But there's More to come!

We've still got more coming for the Core Set!

Current pledge is for 350, but I only have $252 "spent." I'm expecting some more reveals. To me, its a great deal, No "Bones" about it. (Sorry for the horrid pun, I just couldn't resist!) Get in on this if you haven't - you aren't going to get miniatures to go along with your new DF sets any cheaper. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Null - 2013/10/22 21:14 I'm still not particularly enticed by the selection of sculpts in Bones II, but that Mashaaf I have to have. Guess I'm in, after all. ______ Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by kodiakbear - 2013/10/23 03:43

I took part in the first KS but sold off about half of the minis because they were just to out of scale.

This second KS looks about the same for off scale, so why spend money to wait a year to get so many minis I will just end up selling off.

I will keep my money for the DF Caverns KS.

I am very excited about this one, there are more large minis available that will be double to many times more expensive once they come out, even in bones. This is a pretty nice deal... My favorite so far though is still their gelatinous cube sculpt. That one is a ridiculous value IMO.

I'm especially excited about the core set, the kraken, the dragons and the demon lord of minotaurs. Ow, and fat Orcus too, and the shadow demon. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by galladril - 2013/10/25 20:38 The core set has been expanded to since that last image. The surge has begun, and there is major speculation for the 2.5M Mark. https://s3.amazonaws.com/ksr/assets/001/238/615/0bf47e28ded56d7ff84979c23d5df15d large.jpg?138 2724099 Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Fu-Man Chu - 2013/10/25 22:36 I just put in my pledge. Doesn't seem like as good a deal (per mini) as Bones I, but there are more larger ones which are better value. The smaller minis with the plastic didn't seem to hold their detail as well as the larger sculpts. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by DungeonBuilder - 2013/10/26 16:49 Think I might grab some of this terrain for my DF http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/image-5cab3df6b2ec4b84b0dfad34bb873f4a.jpg

Anybody not in the Bones 2 Kickstarter needs to get in now. 3 hours left and it is getting amazing and a super deal. Why do you have to have this you ask? Because Tarrasque that is why.

Oh and of coure the previously mentioned Dragons Don't Share 2
Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Duncan_and_Dragons - 2013/10/26 20:32
Imagine "Dragons Don't Share II" painted with Dwarven Tile colors. Now surround it with Dwarven Forge Ruins.
Now imagine a multi-level dungeon with Dwarven Forge set-up on acrylic platforms (I saw someone on the boards do this) underneath the ruins.
And you might be able to do this by the time the third movie from "The Hobbit" comes out!!!!

That's great, but if I'd realized I'd be waiting 13 months for one mini...

Look at the bright side jack, it may be thirteen months but there is no guarantee that the cube will see retail before then and it may be more expensive then... so at least you get a deal and it will probably be in your hands sooner than it could be otherwise. Plus, that sculpt looks pretty awesome, how could you really say no?

Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by jackattack - 2013/10/27 01:48 Y'know, I really couldn't! Of all the gelatinous cubes I've seen -- some that were actually pretty mediocre and now sell at prohibitive sums, and some really nice ones made by people on this very site -- this was the one I had to have, for all of the reasons LordDust said. Everything else in the kickstarter I can wait for or do without. And I will say that it was really great that Reaper made that an option! Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by Cody N - 2014/05/17 02:27 Has there been any word on a Bones 3 KS? ______ Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by AnimeSensei - 2014/05/17 06:48 Probably won't hear anything until after Bones 2 starts to ship. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by LordDust - 2014/05/17 19:11

They did say during Bones 2 that they are not sure they will do a Bones 3. They did also say they are definitely going to do another KS, but maybe for a skirmish game or other game produced by Reaper. If they are going to go that route I would love to see them do something akin to Hero Quest or Descent.

They may of course have already changed their minds or may still yet do so, but they kinda implied that they think the market may be a bit saturated at this point. I only hit their forums rarely, so they may have recanted or changed their position by now. Who knows? If it had enough cool sculpts or was more terrain dressing heavy I might be inclined to try to join in another one.

Another option that would tempt me would be a KS for a smaller number of minis in the legendary encounters format, i.e. prepainted. I have so much painting and crafting to catch up on that I would be more tempted by prepainted.

I would be defiantly back a legendary encounter, or other prepaint KS. The reason I passed on Bones 1/2 was that I didn't think I would ever get around to painting them all.

The quality of prepainted minis has really gone up since WoC Harbinger.

I am excited to see the new WoC mini set this summer. Hoping they improve on some of the complaints from the Pathfinder mini line, while keeping that level of quality.

I look at a lot of my pathfinder minis and think "I would have loved this when I was 10.

Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by LordDust - 2014/05/18 07:17

I did Bones 2, I missed one. The Dragons Don't Share II, Khanjira (sp?), and the Cube were too tempting for me to pass on. I am excited to paint a mess of them, the sculpts looked pretty nice. While "Bonesium" doesn't hold detail as well as pewter, it is very inexpensive and works out to be a great quality/price ratio in my view. I like painting, I just have a hard time justifying more money into a backlog as big as my current one unless it is something genuinely outstanding.

The pathfinder minis are pretty good. Once in a while though I get a paint job that makes me cringe. Also, in a brick I find that there are far more damaged pieces than I expected. They'll replace them if they have singles, but it is a major hassle and there is a small expense from what I understand. Hopefully WotC exceeds that with the new line.

My three year old loves all my game tiles, minis, and terrain. I'm looking forward to more advanced play with them later and eventually even her help in crafting. Right now we can really only build things with

Dwarven Forge - Dwarven Forge Generated: 31 January, 2015, 21:12 the tiles which she either promptly destroys Godzilla style or decorates "house" style. Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by jimibones83 - 2014/05/20 05:41 The kraken's pretty awesome, but I don't k ow if I'll bother buying it. The giant skeleton I bought out of the last set started bending over time and now doesn't really stand up straight. I have a feeling its probably common amongst the larger minis made of that material Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by jackattack - 2014/05/20 09:38 I hope my gelatinous cube doesn't flatten out... Re:Reaper Bones 2 Kickstarter Posted by LordDust - 2014/05/20 18:30

There was talk that they changed some things with Bones 2 to address some issues they had with Bones 1. They did not go into very deep specifics that I saw, but they said that changes would be made to reduce the number of issues in the final pieces.
