

Hellloooo out there!

Posted by L - 2004/08/03 16:26

Hmmm.. What's the dilly, yo? Or words to that effect.

It seemed like a lot of us were excited about the arrival of sci-fi sets, but they've been out for a month or so, or something like that, and it doesn't seem to have prompted a great deal of discussion. I think I was the first to post a lengthy review, some time after the initial release, and even that hasn't seemed to spark any discussion.

So -- are people losing interest? Are people buying? Are people unimpressed? What's going on, why the near-total silence about these sets?

In case I didn't make it clear in my review, I think these are really fun pieces, and it's great to have a sci-fi setup in the Master Maze style. I guess I'm just surprised that there haven't been more threads in response to these.

L

=====