Hi guys, I don't know if somebody else has thought about this as me... could it be possible to have in the website a place where we could see together links to all the amazing email newsletters that were sent for the preorders from back then when the first Den of Evil was launched until today?

I would really like it and I think it would be a really awesome gallery (great pics Mr. Martin!) for the products released in the last years.... I've tried to "cheat" an access changing the url of "www.truedungeon.com/email" but I cannot find them all, I guess the .htm files are not there anymore, and of course, the folder "email" is not accesible for browsing.

Just an idea
Greetings!
