I open bidding at ... one million dollars

Why not ask for a lot of money?

Wow, never thought I'd be posting over here...

If there were a Cavern-to-SciFi transition set, then space ships/stations could be turned into underground bases, which are not only good for science fiction games, but also for superhero and spy settings.

Some pieces would be hi-tech hallways that become stone passages. Some would be hatches with steel walls on one side and rock walls on the other. Some would be places where the stone protrudes through the metal walls and instrument panels, and others would be places where steel beams support natural stone.

The important thing (from a ruthless marketing standpoint) is that all of the pieces incorporate elements of both lines, so that people who have one but not the other will have a reason/excuse to start buying from the line they don't have.

Underground Bases Posted by Ghenghis Ska - 2009/05/27 21:13 I thinnk I had this smae idea awhile back, I wanted transition form Sci-Fi to all the others as well, But i'd be interested in this:) Underground Bases Posted by Shadox - 2009/05/28 08:06 Underground Bases Posted by Shadox - 2009/05/28 08:06 I do not collect scifi but I would be interested in more transitions. I could use this for a mashup adventure. Now that star trek has hooked me into scifi maybe I can start to collect. -Shadox
