Posted by jackattack - 2010/04/03 08:25 On the right side of our posts, underneath the User ID and icon, between the user's rank and the number of posts, there are five solid squares in a horizontal row. What are they for? And what do the different colors mean? Re:What's with the five boxes? Posted by Harneloot - 2010/04/03 20:27 Before there were *five boxes* there was a white, gray & green line.....then it switched a few days ago to the boxes and we got titles. I know that doesn't explain anything, I'm just saying I noticed the lines first, and now, as you, I ponder about the boxes... Re:What's with the five boxes? Posted by Ghenghis Ska - 2010/04/03 20:51 Pretty sure it has something to do with the ranks/post count. Noticed some of the other posters, like someone with 1 post has a yellow bar, with only one square filled in. Someone with less than 200 has almost the full bar filled in, but it is still yellow, someone with 500+ all filled in yellow, 1000+ looks purple, and me with 2000+ is blue. so likley there is a relationship with amount filled in and post count, which ties into "rank" newbie goblin orc ogre minotaur minotaur lord etc. Re:What's with the five boxes? ## Re:What's with the five boxes? Posted by Zz - 2010/04/13 00:56 Think of it like a gas gauge, as your post count increases for the tier you're in it fills up. When you reach the next lvl, you start over with a new color and at the beginning of the boxes being full. Re:What's with the five boxes? Posted by HeroQuestFrance - 2010/04/13 03:20 Ah great !!!
