

A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/07 10:08

I'm just back from the beach with my kids. The Maersk Tukang has just passed Dover and is leaving the channel. Despite freezing temperatures we headed out to take some pictures.

Picture 1: If you look very, very closely, then you spot the container. Okay - I tried my best. Despite good views today (we could see the French coast) and an SLR with a 250mm tele this is as good as it gets. At least I'm 90% sure it actually is the right ship.

Picture 2 shows the Christina and the Maersk Tukang. I actually started to make photos of the wrong ship until I realized it was going in the wrong direction ... Both ships are actually of similar size but going east means you are closer to France.

Picture 3 is the Deal pier. It is actually 300m long (exactly the lengths of the Titanic) but even going to the end of the pier didn't help much to get closer. At least there is a cafe - so you could stay inside and it was a lot warmer. My kids can thank you for some Hot Chocolate.

Image 4 is the beach in Deal. It isn't often that we have snow here. In some years we have none at all.

This was approx. 1 hour ago. I think it is just 2 more and the ship should arrive. Now we just need to get the container through customs and to Otherworld to unload.

<http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/Container1.jpg>

<http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/Container2.jpg>

<http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/Container3.jpg>

<http://www.dwarvenforge.com/images/fbfiles/images/Container4.jpg>

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Pusherman - 2012/02/07 11:08

Woohoo, ive been following it on twitter, soo close. Hopefully customs wont take too long.

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/07 11:15

I keep you updated.

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Dwarf - 2012/02/07 12:32

With a bit of luck my 6 sets will be here by 19th and I could use them in my next Pathfinder session...

crossing fingers

- Dwarf

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by camoudragon - 2012/02/07 16:06

Hy Thod,

first sorry for the thread jacking but i think we cant send pm's on this forum anymore.

i spoke to michael today about the tactica in hh - if you need any assistans, help or a place to stay (michael will also stay at my place) i am happy to help. also if you need some single df pieces to show to clients i can give you some of mine to keep your travelgear light.

just contact me - michelej@gmx.de

have a nice day,

michele

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Kronos - 2012/02/07 18:01

Woot Woot! :D

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/08 00:27

Carmoudragon

Thanks for the offer. I should e-mail later. I just hope the streets are fine. Here on the island you tend to be less equipped for winter and snow - as it doesn't happen often.

Now it is just customs and then unload.

I'm not looking forward to either. Just hope no surprises and that it goes smoothly.

Jens

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/08 05:45

Dwarf wrote:

With a bit of luck my 6 sets will be here by 19th and I could use them in my next Pathfinder session...

crossing fingers

- Dwarf

Cross them harder ...

We have been selected for special custom screening. Delay unknown.

I keep you updated.

It shouldn't take too long but unloading now looks like next week.

Thod

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Pusherman - 2012/02/08 05:53

I bet the customs officers are all DF fans and just want to see a container load of awesomeness.

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/08 06:54

Pusherman wrote:

I bet the customs officers are all DF fans and just want to see a container load of awesomeness.

So which of my customers is it who can't wait and wants a sneak preview ...

=====

Re:A ship is coming

Posted by Thod - 2012/02/09 07:58

I'm relieved that the news of the new set are out now. I did notice an increased traffic on my page today.

Other news:

A package with certificates has arrived - we just need to add them to all orders for limited sets.

No news yet from customs. Come on - we are all waiting ...

Still waiting for the stalagmites - a package is on it's way.

=====