Hey Guys, I've been playing around making some new stuff for a friend and Thought you might want to see....

First is a Magic Circle... Engraved into the surface of a Dwarven Forge Standard Floor Tile... Looks way better in person than in the pics but I hope to get better pics of it in a better light setting.

Second is my Hell Pit Sewer Grate.... I thing I will make more and do the blood covered paint scheme.... maybe even ad some ghoul hands and arms coming out of the grate slits... should be fun.

Last but not least is my Camp Fire LED Tile... It has a soft random flicker coming out of the center of the fire coals and looks really nice even when turned off.... Lots of fun.

I'm excited to get Stefan's Paint colors so I don't have to mix my own mix's, that should make it so much easier to make accessories match..... All Praise New Paint! Really Stefan ... Not Kidding I cant wait for the new paint!

Those look great Keeblerorc!! The grate will be a must have once the DF sewer set is released. Excellent rusted metal paint job.

All three look fantastic but I'm particular to the magic circle! Dld you etch that into an actual DF piece? How?!? It looks amazing
Re:The Magic Circle Posted by Keeblerorc - 2013/09/09 23:40
Wow Thanks for the compliments guys
Jasdotcom Yes Sir! That is a real DF floor tile and the Magic Circle of Protection is Well It's Magic
You wouldn't expect me to give away my secrets
Thanks for the feedback.
PS The painted Grates are $25 per pair, the Campfire Pits are $28 and the Magic Circle Etched into a Real DF Floor Tile are $25 Thanks everybody that have been asking.
